Central Bank makes donation to Missionaries of Charity

The Central Bank of Seychelles has shown its support in the well-being of the community through a donation to the Missionaries of Charity.

The donation, comprising of clothes, food items and other consumables, was made by Ms Beggita Vital, a member of the Central Bank's Social Committee, who coordinated the collection of items from staff of the Central Bank.

“Aside from its main role of ensuring domestic price stability, the Central Bank has a vested interest in community well-being and has a lot of admiration for the charitable work being done by the sisters and staff of the Missionaries of Charity,” said Ms Vital, during the short ceremony that took place at the Missionaries of Charity in Anse Etoile yesterday morning.

Sister Bethany, receiving the donation on behalf of the Sisters, staff and residents, expressed her gratitude, noting that the donations go a long way in adding to the comfort of the residents.

To note that in previous years, the Staff of Central of Seychelles, through its Social Committee, have assisted the Missionaries of Charity with renovation work as well as other donations.
